New Message Notifications

Our service sends an automatic email notice every time a user has a new message to view at TalkingParents. These notices are sent as a courtesy and we cannot verify if they are actually received or viewed. Users can turn these email notices off (or back on) anytime. Our iPhone and Android apps include built-in new message notifications.

Communications

All messages are grouped into communications. Every communication is assigned a subject by the parent who created it.

Communications are presented in their entirety with no messages left out and arranged chronologically based on most recent activity.

All messages within a communications are arranged chronologically, top to bottom, starting with the first message under that subject.

Communication headings are outlined in solid black.

Elizabeth Johnson's messages are outlined in dots.

I propose we alter the current schedule so that on Mondays I drop off and you pick up normal time.

Let me know what you think.
